

The Trap

“Where are we?” cried Elly with fear.

“I’ve never been down this street before!” ... It was a cold dark night and the 5 friends were lost.

Hang on I haven’t introduce the friends yet.

So there’s Elly, Elly is a kind and pretty girl who always helps people out. Kayla, Kayla is a very stubborn but wonderful girl. Jordan, Jordan is very sarcastic at some times but other than that he is awesome. Tye, Tye is a school leader, he is prime minister boy, he is very self confident and sporty. And then there’s Ameen he is very ... um funny I guess, anyway back to the story.

...“Why did we even come out for a midnight walk if we don’t know where we’re going?” Kayla asked.

“Yeah Kayla, Can we just go home now?”

“That’s the problem Jordan we don’t know where to go.”

“I do it was left” said Tye

“No, it was right!” exclaimed Kayla.

After a lot of arguing they took the right path (of course) and they still couldn’t find their way, Ameen had a great idea and announced it to everyone, “ How about we ask that mouse!”

Everyone thought it was just his humour, Jordan answered back with sarcasm “Yeah cause mice can talk.”

“No Jordan, Ameen’s right we can ask the mouse and mice CAN talk!” exclaimed Tye with his smartness

“Excuse me little mouse, can I please ask you a question.” whispered Elly

“Yes I did see what path you came down.”

“How did you know she was gonna ask that?” asked Kayla

“Cause I can hear you from down here, just cause I’m small doesn’t mean I cant hear you from all the way down here.” The mouse answered

“Anyway it was the centre path from here.”

“Oh please please call me Jerrold no wait mike.”

“Well whats your real name?” asked Elly

“Jerrold.”

“Ok, bye Jerrold.” The whole group shouted.

“Ahhhhh!” Screamed the 5 friends

“What was that are we in a well?”

“Never mind that Tye hit his head when we fell down and now he’s not moving!” exclaimed Elly sadly.

“REALLY? I need to sit down this is too much for me.”

“Ahhhh!” screamed Jordan
